Director's Evaluation & 3.5 UTR and up required.

BHTC encourages hard work and perseverance in their success in the classroom and on the court. BHTC has two private college preparatory online schooling options for our student-athletes; The Dwight School and Laurel Springs School Purchased separately by client.

The Home-Study program at BHTC consists of a 3.5 hrs of training in a 4:1 ratio court setup. It begins with morning study and tennis training and a mid-afternoon study hall/lunch where students' attention is directed to their online courses. To follow, a late tennis and fitness session, wrapping up the day with an hour of homework. Similar to a traditional educational model, student-athletes are expected to complete any assignments not completed during their school day, at home. BHTC Academic Tutor coordinates with the coaches to evaluate and plan each student's workload and training schedules to maximize both training and academic times. Monthly parent meetings with Tennis Director, includes progress report, tournament scheduling, and overall performance evaluation.
